A Delicate and Wholesome Aroma.

Agreeably unlike the rank perfume of an ordinary essence, is perceptible to those who inhale the odor of SOZODONT, a chemically pure botanic adjunct of the toilet, which finds the greatest favor in those refined circles where personal cleanliness and the graces which elevate the tone of society are held in deserved esteem. Besides arresting the decay of neglected or abused teeth, and removing tartar and other impurities which causes them to become dim and lustrous it purifies the breath and removes canker in the mouth.

Valentine's School of Telegraphy.

The above institution has long been recognized as one of the substantial fixtures of the Lower City. The school was organized in October, 1872, its growth has been steady and permanent, and to-day the average attendance is about two hundred, including young men from all parts of the country. The course of instruction is thorough, and thousands of young men are to-day filling responsible positions as the result of careful training in this school. The great demand for competent stenographers has induced the managers to open a school in the same building for instruction in short hand and type writing. Ladies as well as gentlemen are availing themselves of the opportunity thus offered to secure the advantages of an education that insures steady and pleasant employment at good wages. This branch of their business is fast assuming proportions and the outlook is very promising.

Recovered from Death.

William J. Coughlin of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with bleeding of lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and sleep, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. J. C. WILSON'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when, to my surprise, I commenced to get well, and to-day I feel better than for three years."

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 63 degrees above zero. Cloudy—light rain—with north wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 70 degrees above zero. Cloudy—light rain—with north wind.

The best thing for the complexion is Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It brings the bloom of health to the wan cheek.

STILL IN THE VAN.—The efforts of others to kindle the fire of Salazar to attain the magnificent popularity which Dr. J. C. WILSON'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS has attained is a failure. DeLand's goods continue to lead all others in public esteem.

The Voice of the Press.

The voice and power of the press is heard and felt throughout this broad land. To the press the merchant looks for the facts and figures of business and the financial standing of the country before he invests his money in any venture.

It is a daily chronicle of news, events, a storehouse of usefulness and a pillar of truth. Fearless in denouncing fraud and upholding and supporting the right, it is as a beacon-light along the world's highway, guiding mankind into smooth and pleasant places. The public teacher is the press, wielding a greater influence for good than the pulpit, and prone to change the morals of a nation far better than its code of laws. It is a firebrand monitor by which we are directed how to do our every-day affairs, where to make our purchases and where to find enjoyment. As authority it is indispensable in a democratic government; its advice should be heeded, and its advice accepted upon. Where it finds excellence it applauds it, and where it finds fraud or shabby pretense it nobly brands it as such.

Just now the show world is attracting the attention of the press throughout the land. Each of the great shows is fighting for the honor of being the greatest, and the newspapers are bent on awarding that honor to the show to which it belongs. It is wonderful to note the unanimity with which the press of the country leap to Sells Bros' standard on this point. And inasmuch as the Big Sells Show will exhibit at Janesville on Wednesday, July 23rd, it is interesting to see how the press of the city is fighting for the honor of being the greatest, and the newspapers are bent on awarding that honor to the show to which it belongs.

It was "Sells Brothers' Confederation of Stupendous Railroad Shows." After seeing the show it is but necessary to say that it is a good one and well deserving the patronage it has received yesterday. The show covers a large area, and is a good one and well deserving the patronage it has received yesterday.
